HOLIDAY FARE

The Guardsmen Christmas Tree Sale once again turns Pier 3 at Fort Mason into an indoor forest. Trees, garlands, holly, poinsettia, mistletoe and a variety of decorations for your holiday celebrations are for sale. Flame retarding, flocking, and delivery service are also available. This annual sale is a benefit, helping to send underprivileged children to summer camp. Hours are Mondays through Fridays, 9am to 9pm, Saturdays and Sundays, 8am to 9pm, from the day after Thanksgiving through December 23. Admission is free. For information, call 771-7747.

Museo ItaloAmericano sponsors the Dolci d'Italia Competition, where traditional Italian regional sweets can be tasted, and recipes traded. Participants will also vote on "il piu favoloso" dessert from among those offered by some of the City's finest chefs. Dessert wine and coffee will be served. The competition takes place on Thursday, December 1, from 7 to 9pm. Admission is $7.50 a person, $12 a couple for members of the Museo, $10 a person and $15 a couple for non-members. For reservations, call 673-2200.

Throughout the holiday season, the Museo's gift shop becomes the Christmas Pinocchio Shop, featuring a variety of Italian toys, including Pinocchio puppets. The shop's usual selection of interesting costume jewelry, books for children, and cards is also available. The Christmas Shop will continue through Twelfth Night (January 6, 1989).

The Fort Mason Art Center presents its Annual Holiday Show and Sale, December 10 and 11, from 10am to 6pm. The Art Center, a part of the San Francisco Community College District, is located in Building B at Fort Mason. Works in a variety of media, including paintings, drawings, prints, ceramics, sculpture, stained glass, jewelry, quilted items, soft sculpture, weaving, and hand-loomed tapestries are exhibited and offered for sale. More than a thousand students attend classes at the Art Center each week. Since it opened thirteen years ago, each Holiday Show has attracted more participants, and an ever-increasing audience. Admission is free. For information, call 776-8247.

The Mexican Museum presents "December in Mexican Popular Tradition" from December 1 through January 22, 1989. Christmas in Mexico is celebrated with piñatas, posadas (parties), pastorelas (plays), and displays of nacimientos (Nativity scenes) in homes and churches. To celebrate this joyous season, the Museum presents an exhibition of traditional Nativity scenes from various regions of Mexico, including Puebla, Michoacan and Oaxaca. Tin, wood and papier maché folk toys, ranging from the miniature to large-scale, form another component of the show. The Museum and La Tienda, the gift shop, are open Wednesdays through Sundays, noon to 5pm. Admission is $2, $1 for seniors and students; children under 10 are admitted free. On the first Wednesday of the month, both the Museum and the shop remain open until 8pm, and admission is free. A public tour will be conducted the first Thursday of the month at 1:30pm. For information, call 441-0445.

Folk Art International includes a display of children's peace banners this year as part of its ninth annual Exhibition and Sale at Fort Mason's Conference Center in Building A. Highlighted are five large banners depicting children's wishes for a world at peace, created by students at San Francisco's New Traditions Alternative School. The banners were fabricated using applique and textile techniques illustrated in one of Folk Art International's Resources for Education (FAIRE) classroom kits. The Exhibition and Sale opened November 19 and continues through December 28. See listing inside under December 1. For information, call 441-6100.

The Fund for Animals hosts its Annual "Santa Claws" Party, an open house with entertainment, food, and holiday shopping for animal rights activists, or anyone who wants a gift appropriate for those who care about animals. On December 10 at 6pm in Building C at Fort Mason. Admission is free. For information. call 474-4020.

THEATER UPDATE

Young Performers Theatre presents Cinderella, an enchanting holiday entertainment for the entire family. The well-known classic is presented in a contemporary manner, with actors and singers, beautiful sets and costumes to delight any age. The show opens with a premiere performance on Friday, December 2 at 7:30pm. The run continues on Saturdays and Sundays, 1 and 3:30pm, from December 3 through 18. Admission is $6 for adults, $4 for children under 13. For information, call 346-5550.

Life On The Water continues its season with the world premiere of WinterSoldier, which opened last month and continues through December 18. From the moment they enter the theater, audience members are surrounded by the world of WinterSoldier, the experience of a few days in the life of the Vietnam War. The lobby becomes an NCO Club, and the audience is led inside a U.S. Army compound near Bien Hoa in December 1969. They will see and hear and feel the war the way the soldiers lived it: rain rolls off tin roofs, a cauldron of fish soup boils on the stove, mortars seem to sbell the setting and helicopters to roar through the theater, hovering a few yards overhead. But at the core of the play lies a moving human experience - the efforts of five soldiers to face bitter reality with humor, ingenuity and compassion. WinterSoldier doesn't assault the audience with violence or empty platitudes, but rather seeks an affirmation of the human spirit faced with fear and adversity. It leaves the audience with the same sense memories of the war the soldiers themselves brought home.

Performances are presented Thursdays through Sundays at 8pm, with Sunday matinees at 3pm. Tickets are $12 Thursdays and Sundays, $15 Fridays and Saturdays, $10 for students and seniors, and are available at BASS, STBS/Union Square, and the Life On The Water box office in Building B at Fort Mason. For information, call 776-8999.

Magic Theatre opened its 1988-89 season with Talk Radio by Eric Bogosian, which continues through December 4. This is Bogosian's first full-length, multi-character play. Written in 1986, and especially timely today, it is the story of Barry Champlain, a high-powered, high-pressured talk show host. A complex and fascinating man, Champlain toys with his audience of kooks, lonely hearts, urban weirdos and fanatics of all persuasions. He uses his all-night radio broadcast as a forum for a game of mental gymnastics where he stars as the devil's advocate. Talk Radio is a riveting story of a man who lives entirely by and for the media.

Magic's second presentation of the season is the West Coast premiere of Hugh Whitemore's Breaking the Code. This is the engaging and complex story of Alan Turing, who saved England during World War II by breaking the complicated German "Enigma" code. Turing's extraordinary innovative genius also led to the digital computer. Despite his accomplishments, he was found guilty and imprisoned for what was at that time in England a criminal offense - homosexuality. Breaking the Code opened at the Neil Simon Theatre in November 1987 to critical acclaim. The Magic Theatre production opened last month, and continues through December 18.

Performances in Magic's Northside and South-side theaters are Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8:30pm, Sundays at 2 and 7:30pm. Tickets are $10 to $18, available at STBS/Union Square, Ticketron, and the Magic Theatre box office in Building D at Fort Mason. For information, call 441-8822.

BOOK BAY

The Friends of the San Francisco Public Library have been sponsoring book sales since 1964. The first sale, held at the Main Library, netted $3,489. These sales quickly became a popular San Francisco tradition, with steady growth in the numbers of donated books, customers, and volunteers. Ever-larger quarters were needed, resulting in several sites being used over the years, until the Friends were able to find a permanent home for their sales at Fort Mason, in 1978. That year, net proceeds were $30,500. Shortage of storage space for donated books led to the creation of Book Bay in 1985 as a means of selling off books on a continuing basis between major sales.

During the last two and a half years, Book Bay has been located on the second floor of Building D - not the most accessible site possible for hauling loads of books up and down. Despite this, Book Bay has been surprisingly successful.

This month, the Friends have achieved a long hoped-for change of location, to a ground floor site - the space at the south end of Building C. Book Bay will open there, in newly remodeled quarters, on December 14. Funds for the remodeling come from contributions made to the Friends in memory of long-time volunteer Anne Phleger Gates. The shop will be dedicated to her memory.

Proceeds from Friends sales support free programs for adults and children in all the branch libraries, as well as distribution of their monthly publication, "Free."

Equally important is the service of offering low-cost books to the public, sold at prices well below second-hand bookstore prices. A dedicated group of volunteers, working year round, make this possible. Through their efforts, about 200,000 books a year are recycled back into the community.

Hours at the new location: Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, 11am to 6pm; Thursdays, 11am to 8pm. Building D remains the book drop site. For further information, call Friends of the Library at 771-3777 or 558-3857.
